Missouri is more channel than
river here
so that cohort can navigate

Unseen from Kansas, Atchinson
& Topeka railbed,
30 feet down steep
branch-laddered
silt onto a beach
where Bonne Femme Creek flows into the Missouri.

The Saturday after Thanksgiving, I threw a stick into the river and watched it flow away. Just upstream from Cooper's Landing, my dog dug into the sand and my son climbed atop a bleached log. Post hippies off the grid floated by on a homemade barge. The barge will become post hippie flotsam in the delta.

I threw in another stick and watched it chase the current.

Rabbit emerged from his hole and was chased by every creature known to chase, including bankers. Rabbit was a highly conditioned sprinter, anaerobic and out of the blocks like a starter's pistol.

Rabbit was adept at replicating with other rabbits.
